

Judging Criteria: 2018 Excellence in Quality Awards

The Excellence in Quality awards are presented to initiatives in each of the four areas of care. Each award category follows the same criteria, but judges will look for elements that address the chosen area of care.

1. Improving the Quality of Care

/ 40

The nominee has demonstrated leadership in quality improvement in one or more of the following dimensions of quality as defined by the BC Health Quality Matrix.

- Acceptability – care that is respectful to patient and family needs, preferences, and values.
- Appropriateness – care provided is evidence-based and specific to individual clinical needs.
- Accessibility – ease with which health services are reached by the patient.
- Safety – avoiding patient harm resulting from care.
- Effectiveness – care that is known to achieve intended outcomes for the patient.
- Equity – health care benefits distributed fairly, according to population need.
- Efficiency – optimal use of resources to yield maximum benefits and results.

The nominee meaningfully engaged patients and/or families in the design, delivery and evaluation of programs and services (if applicable).

2. Evidence of Improved Care

There is clear evidence (tracking results over time) that the nominee improved the quality of care provided to patients. Evidence can be quantitative or qualitative.

Quantitative examples: cost savings, lower infection rates, reduced number of falls/accidents.

Qualitative examples: patient satisfaction survey results, letters from patients/family members/staff.

3. Sustainability

/ 15

The nominee's work will be sustained in the future, whether it is through already-developed planning or through the use of the $2,500 the team will receive for winning this award.

There is a plan for sharing the findings of the initiative and/or implementing it in other locations, if applicable.

4. Innovation

/ 10

The nominee contributed new thinking to this area of care or improvement initiative.

5. Quality of Submission

/ 10

The submission contains minimal spelling and grammatical errors, jargon and acronyms. The submission is presented coherently.
