

Innovation at Work: Applying Change Management at the Point of Care

Disclosure

What is change management anyhow?

Change Management considers the PEOPLE impact and provides structured support to help people move from current to future state.

Plan to support people to successfully implement changes in how they work and interact with others.